

8th Annual Economics Conference 29th March 2025

Organised by Sarla Anil Modi School of Economics, NMIMS Mumbai

> in collaboration with The Indian Econometric Society (TIES)

Theme - Digital Transformation and Economic Development in India: Charting the Path to Inclusive Growth

The 8th Annual Economics Conference (AEC) by Sarla Anil Modi School of Economics (SAMSOE), NMIMS, Mumbai, in collaboration with The Indian Econometric Society (TIES), focuses on digital transformation and economic growth in India. Digital transformation has emerged as a key driver of economic growth and societal progress globally. In India, the integration of digital technologies across various sectors has the potential to unlock unprecedented opportunities for innovation, productivity, and inclusivity. Government initiatives such as "Digital India," coupled with rapid advancements in technology, have positioned India to harness the benefits of a digital economy. However, the journey toward comprehensive digital transformation presents challenges, including digital literacy, infrastructure gaps, data privacy concerns, and regional disparities. The conference aims to provide a platform for researchers to explore the interplay between digital transformation and economic development in India while ensuring inclusive and sustainable economic growth.

The conference will cover but not limited to the following key themes:

 Digital Economy and Growth: Impact of digital technologies on GDP growth and job creation. Role of start-up's and innovation in driving economic transformation. Infrastructure and Connectivity: Bridging the urban-rural digital divide. Building resilient digital infrastructure for a connected India. Digital Governance: E-governance and its role in enhancing public service delivery. 	 Empowering the Workforce: Upskilling and reskilling for a digital future. Role of digital literacy in fostering economic inclusivity. Sectoral Transformation: Adoption of digital technologies in agriculture, healthcare, education, and manufacturing. Opportunities and challenges in promoting Industry 4.0. India's Global Vision for Digital Transformation: Pushing digital transformation globally through frameworks and digital public infrastructure.
		Data privacy, cybersecurity, and regulatory frameworks.
