In collaboration with

The Indian Econometric Society (TIES)

Theme: Financial Sector at Crossroads: Opportunities and Challenges

Keynote Speaker: Mr. Ashishkumar Chauhan (MD & CEO, Bombay Stock Exchange)

Sarla Anil Modi School of Economics is pleased to announce its second Annual Economics Conference to be held on February 12, 2018. The School of Economics at NMIMS seeks to redefine economics courses in India, with its unique course content and innovative pedagogy. The Sarla Anil Modi School of Economics recognizes economics as a crucial 'science' in this era of globalization, the understanding of which is rooted in the humanities, the application of which is based on quantitative methods.

The Indian Econometric Society (TIES) is one of the most highly regarded associations of quantitative economists in India and is well-known for the high quality research output. It is one of the oldest and largest bodies of professional econometricians and quantitative economists formed in the year 1960. TIES organizes conferences to deliberate on the issues of econometrics in order to provide a forum for economists, mathematicians and statisticians of India and abroad.

Through this conference, we strive to provide a platform for researchers from academia, industry and regulatory organizations to deliberate on empirical findings, advances in economic theory and policy implications related to role of financial technology in the economy, issue of non-performing assets in large public sector banks, effect of farm loan waivers on credit generation, cost of credit for firms and other such issues related to emerging market economies.

Papers not exceeding 7,000 words should be submitted as MS Word document via email to shreya.biswas@nmims.edu/ anand.b@nmims.edu by 20th December, 2017. All submissions will be reviewed and the authors of accepted papers will be informed by 15th January, 2018. Following are some of the suggestive topics of interest, however, the participants are welcome to send their research broadly related to finance and applied economics.

- Role of ICT in finance
- Monetary economics
- Capital markets
- Financial Institutions
- Corporate Finance
- Developmental finance

The best paper presented at the conference will be awarded an honorarium of Rs.7000. Authors of accepted papers may be requested to act as discussants for other papers. All the selected papers can be considered for publication in the NMIMS Economics and Public Policy Journal.

We will be organizing a Research Colloquium on the day of the conference, for students of economics who are in early stages of their research. We encourage students working on their research proposals broadly based on the above themes to apply for the colloquium. We intend to accommodate limited number of papers in the sessions wherein students will receive feedback from senior researchers and also interact with other research students from various institutions.

Best research proposal will be awarded cash prize of Rs.5000. Research proposals in MS Word format should be sent via email to shreya.biswas@nmims.edu/ anand.b@nmims.edu by 20th December, 2017. Please mention Submission for Research Colloquium as the subject of the mail.
